TALEIND

February 4, 2020 Volume 54, Number 8

Great walking shoes, a jump drive and laptop to share resources.

Your phone to take pictures of projects and ideas to be implemented in the classroom.

Business cards to share with new teachers in need of help/resources.

Shelley Ferris Knott

A place for professional conversations among colleagues.

Clair Hockley

Premade entry slips for all the contests at the display booths.

Tess Owen

Water, chocolate, apple and a red pen. These will keep you going through a longer session.

Leanne White

Pen and notepad, smart device, schedule, a good coffee (because the line up for Starbucks is insane), a bag to store handouts and freebies in, gum/candy, comfortable shoes.

Alethea Power-Iwanicka

A GPS device so vou can find the sessions in those oddball little rooms off the main drag.

Bill Jacobsen

Ginger tea, tissues, lots of pencils and sticky notes in a variety of sizes.

Janice Finkbeiner

Preprinted address sticker or stamp with email address.

Take photos not handouts.

Bookmark websites from vendors on phone.

Charge cord for phone or computer.

Download app to phone.

Pamella Roussin

Running shoes to try and get to a session that isn't full.

Amber Pinchin

You forgot Advil and earplugs! Sheila Vanderputten

If you were creating a

SUA SUA

SURVIVAL KIT for teachers' convention, what would you include?

Good shoes Tissues Chargers Pens Caffeinated drinks Hand sanitizer Hand cream Snacks Book to read

Laurie Jean

Office lens app on your phone to turn handouts and screens into pdf documents on > your phone. Savi Houldin

Don't forget your membership card. You can print a copy or screenshot here: profile.teachers.ab.ca

Sharalyn Joy

A printed copy (not just digital) of your schedule with alternate sessions and locations in case your preferred session is full.

Michelle Holdway

What topic or activity are you most looking forward to this year at teachers' convention?

Jann Arden! Lynn Hamilton Farrugia

Gamification and going beyond bringing games into class. I want the whole experience.

Kathryn McCutcheon-Christie

Ours has some incredible sessions I am really looking forward to seeing. Shelley Moore is one I don't want to miss! I am also interested in hearing from the ATA president on our current political climate. I want to hear his thoughts, ideas and guidance for us.

Sandy McBride

Just catching up with past colleagues that have transferred schools is a treat and actually sitting down and having lunch with no supervision!

Wendy Hatton

Overall, no matter what sessions I attend, I value the time to reconnect with the best resources: my colleagues. To reset as a teacher and work on resilience.

Lori Whillier

I am pumped for Anthony and James!

> John Halvorsen